Profile

As a freelancer you take on the role of everyone you would normally see in an agency. From a production designer to creative director I have done simple production work and have also built projects from the ground up taking full creative lead and direction. I am a freelance creative professional with print production background. I demonstrate strength in leadership, communication and problem solving. I have the ability to work independently, prioritize projects and meet deadlines. I am a good conceptual thinker. I have extensive experience and knowledge in Adobe Creative Suite, flexography and offset printing, as well as traffic management, photography, and creative direction.
